Shane Gramling of Gramling Creative was awarded the 2010 Flinty Award for Flint's Best Graphic Designer in the February issue of Broadside, an independent newspaper composed and distributed in Flint, Michigan.

Broadside Publishing has released new annual award to recognize the efforts of a select number of businesses and people that most greatly impact the City of Flint. A public vote was taken for people to choose their favorite Cafe, Activist and Writer among many other categories. Shane was announced Flint's Best Graphic Designer among the various available categories.

"It's my first design award, and I've been at this design thing for nearly ten years now, so it feels pretty good to be recognized." said Shane. He's is aware of the famous Addy Awards but has chosen not to submit any work for nomination. "I know my work is good because it produces good results. That's what design is all about."
